Monroney said this would require "24-hour leased A.T.&T. wires" and would be profitable to the telephone company.
He said it also would require investments in "delicate instruments" and that it is questionable whether "one thin dime" of saving to the taxpayer would present system of manning each station with a technician to advise aircraft aloft of flying conditions would be safer.

He also questioned the competence of the firm to make a survey of the highly technical problems of aviation control and safety.

ALDERMEN VOTE 26-0 TO OVERRIDE TUCKER VETO ON 40-HOUR WEEK

Mayor Says It Conflicts With Charter Provisions-Measures for Expressway Link Ad-

The Board of Aldermen overrode the Mayor's veto yesterday and passed a bill to extend the 40-hour week to all city employes in classified service. This would include virtually all city employes except firemen.

Following the regular meeting, the Aldermanic Streets and Sewers Committee met and approved two bills for the city's portion of the Daniel Boone Expressway. These bills will be recommended for board passage at next Friday's meeting.

When the 40-hour week bill was called for consideration Board President Donald Gunn turned the chair over to Anton Niemeyer (Dem.), Eighth Ward, vice president, and spoke from the floor in favor of overriding the Mayor's veto.

FIRE NEAR EAST ST. LOUIS The body of a man identified as William A. Carver was found in the ruins of a two-room house on a farm on U.S. Highway 67, one mile north of East St. Louis, after fire destroyed the building early today. He was identified by Herbert Onstott, 525 North Thirtieth Street, East St. Louis, owner of the farm. Onstott said Carver, 66 years old, lived in the house and had been employed by him for the last 20 years. Fairmont City firemen summoned by a neighbor of Carver, attributed the blaze to careless smoking and estimated danage at $1000. Onstott said he last saw Carver around 5 p.m. yesterday.

Doctors said none of his ex-tremities was frozen and that it was unlikely any amputation would be necessary.

He regained consciousness after arriving at the hospital, but was unable to speak well enough to explain how he got into the car.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Apropos your advice to bureau-rats to read magazine articles before calling them excellent, may I suggest you read—or at least pass on to your readers—the contents of the pending amendment to the school construction bill, then call it impolitic and unnecessary.

By providing that school districts which integrate within three years shall be paid forthwith from escrow funds, the amendment is an incenre to speed and a discouragement the deliberation emphasized more d more by Southern spokesmen i more by Southern spokesmer posed to be complying with the preme Court decision.

Supreme Court decision.

I wonder, also, if you are familiar with recent correspondence between the N.A.A.C.P. and the department with revenue supersize grants-in-aid under the new bill?

Nothing more clearly refutes your sad justification for a position of crass expediency, except the urgency of relief due courageous Negro parents who continue fighting against everwhelming opposition to give their children a decent education.

My disappointment with the almost immediate reactions of your paper and Eisenhower to the amendment was nonetheless expected; but I suspect many union members are now wondering just what brand of unity and political prestige was pediled by the Meanys and McDonalds.

Not to Be Brushed Off

If Premier Bulganin's second letter to President Eisenhower is propaganda, as we believe, it is pretty effective propaganda. Without the bom-bast and bunk that characterize so many Soviet documents, Bulganin calmly and reasonably replies to the objections President Eisenhower raised to the Moscow proposal of a 20-year friendship treaty between the two nations.

It would be unrealistic to deny that the rebuttal is plausibly presented. We in this country know that a friendship treaty unaccompanied by more substantive and positive acts would be meaningless. We know that only a genuine change of spirit in Soviet conduct can bring the world closer to a tranquil peace. Still, Bulganin's rebuttal, when weighed against the President's letter, might cause an impartial citizen of India, say, to conclude that in this instance the Russians had the better of the argument.

The President's main point against a friendship treaty was that it would commit the two nations to nothing they are not already committed to by the United Nations charter. Yet, as Premier Bulganin is quick to point out, all nations have many bilateral and multilateral treaties in addition to the charter, especially for purposes of defense. Why not a friendship treaty to sup plement the charter in the same way?

To the President's objection that a bilateral pact would be less effective than one like the charter which binds many nations to common obligations, Premier Bulganin replies by renew ing the offer of an East-West pact between the NATO and the Warsaw powers, and by offering to sign similar friendship treaties with Britain and France. True, Russia less than a year ago denounced the friendship treaties it already had with Britain and France, to express its displeasure with plans to rearm Germany. Nevertheless its professed-willingness to resume these obligations now, in something like a Locarno-type system of pacts, will probably make a favorable impression on neutrals.

Premier Bulgania answers the President's demand for "deeds not words" by pointing out that the signing of a treaty would in fact be a deed, and by listing other deeds which Moscow has performed signing the Austrian treaty, reducing its armed forces and military appropriations, withdrawing from Porkkala in Finland

None of these actions was taken after last summer's Geneva conference, and so they do not precisely bear on President Eisenhower's very proper reminder that Moscow's conduct since Geneva has disappointed the hopes raised there. But they are concessions or retreats from previous positions which the Russians can claim as evidence of a wish to moderate the cold war.

The President's strongest point was his hint that a friendship treaty might actually do harm, by creating the illusion of peace when the sub stance of it remained unachieved. Obviously he was suggesting that a treaty might encourage some to relax their vigilance, let down their guard. As against this argument, the impartial vitness would weigh Bulganin's contention that a treaty might create an improved atmosphere in which all the substantive conflicts, including especially disarmament and the problem of Germany, could be tackled with renewed hope.

The sum of the matter seems to be that friendship pact of itself would neither create peace nor endanger it. If it were followed by other constructive actions, peace would be ad vanced. If it were followed by foolish appease ments or a unflateral disarmament which invited aggression, peace would be endangered. But it is difficult to argue persuasively against a pact in itself, and we hope those who frame the American reply to Bulganin will recognize that his argument is not to be brushed aside lightly.

To Enlist Good Freeholders

As a rule, honors such as the St. Louis Award are not supposed to impose specific new tasks on those who receive them. But the 16 Award winners gladly accepted Mayor Tucker's assignment to form the nucleus of a citizens' committee to find charter freeholder candidates. After all, these 16 were singled out for their devotion to St. Louis, and the city's No. 1 need now is a thoroughly revised charter.

In calling on them to name a chairman of a Freeholders' Committee, the Mayor has sur mounted personal and partisan influences. He has avoided the political recriminations which might have confused the issue had he taken a direct hand in selecting objective, public-spirited citizens to file for election as freeholders. Both Charles P. McBride, chairman of the Remittee, and John chairman of the Democratic City Committee, have made new attacks on civil service attacks which foreshadow opposition to charter reform in at least one important area of municipal Alderman Joseph P. Roddy, Seventeenth Ward Democrat, was even more specific in speaking at the institute on municipal government spor sored by the League of Women Voters. Explain ing that in voting against Mayor Tucker's charter bill he had voted "against a loaded board of freeholders," he added: "We are going to put in people who will protect our own interests. In this way we will beat them at their own game. The implications are clear enough, even though we trust that they do not represent the thinking of all those active in local politics. But such talk does emphasize the need for an active and re spected committee devoted to the election of freeholders who will approach their task with the community's best interests at heart.

Progress at the Penitentiary

The revolutionary physical improvements that have been made in the Missouri Penitentiary's disciplinary cell section reflect considerable credit on Director of Corrections Carter who put them in effect

The 18-cell section with the official title "O" hall is known throughout the prison as the "hole." At the time of the 1954 riots it was a chamber of horrors - without toilet facilities without drinking water, without bedding, without light-18 tiny cells each of which on occasions had held as many as five or six prisoners who received one regular meal every four days.

Now "O" hall has been shined up like a modern dairy plant. Convicts enduring punishment there still have no proper beds. They must sleep on the floor. But the place is clean and it is light and the discarded paint cans that have served for toilets have been replaced by modern plumbing.

ing on the theory that convicts are not animals; that they ought to be treated with the consideration due them as human beings. Perhaps Missouri is on the verge of emerging from penology's Dark Age.

But why not abolish the hole altogether? Certainly there are many other effective ways of maintaining discipline within the big house, and none of them require much ingenuity to put in effect. Prisoners may be confined to their own cells, their privileges may be taken away and they may forfeit some of their "good time" allowance. Surely an institution like "O" halleven a shined up "O" hall-is unnecessary.

A Remarkably Timed Gift

At least one supporter of the bill to exempt natural gas from federal regulation slipped sadly when he presented $2500 to a friend of Senator Francis Case, South Dakota Republican, fo the Senator's 1956 campaign fund. Mr. Case told the Senate of the incident and said that if "tac-tics like that can be followed, the freedom of the Senate is gone." Understandably enough, he added that, having once intended to vote for the bill, he now plans to vote against it.

There is a very real legal difference between a campaign contribution and a bribe, but sometimes it is hard for the lay eye to see it. Senator Case was careful not to call the gift-which he is not keeping-a bribe. "But when the passage of a bill becomes so alluring that dollars are advanced to potential candidates even before primaries are held," he added, "the warning signals go up.'

The disclosure came in the midst of rumors of free spending on behalf of the natural gas bill. So it raises the question whether this was an isolated affair. Senator Case called the intended campaign gift "a down payment, so to speak, on the profits" of those who would be benefited by adoption of the bill. Quite properly, he warned:

downent of future profits for holders of gas reserves we might be mortgaging the issues of the future. Unrelated legislation could be influenced by the unregulated profits de-rived from monopoly prices paid by captive customers at the end of the delivery line.

The Case revelation calls for some serious sec ond thoughts by those Senators inclined to vote for the repealer. It also calls for such thoughts about the special tax benefits enjoyed by the oil industry. And it calls for serious consideration of the bill, introduced by Senator Thomas C. Hennings Jr. of Missouri, for revision of the election laws and especially its provision for full publicity of all campaign contributions.

The people have a right to know how much is being paid to get their representatives into Con gress, and by whom.

Welcoming a Feeder Airline

St. Louis this week was fortunate in acquiring its second local service—or feeder—airline when Central Airlines planes began landing here. Cen tral now serves 29 cities in Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, Ozark Air Lines the senior feeder line, came here in 1950 and now serves 35 cities in Missouri, Illinois, Iowa Wisconsin, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and Kansas.

Feeder airlines tie St. Louis closer to its trade territory and bring in more passengers for longer flights on the major airlines. It is unfortunate that the city has been lagging in the establish ment and enlargement of feeder service. Central has had to fight for six years to get into St. Louis and Ozark has had to battle for such things as permanent certification and route extension.

Just last month Ozark petitioned the CAB to extend its routes to 27 additional cities and thus more than double its 3507-mile system. It is to be hoped that it gets speedy action on this re quest and that Central Airlines soon will find that it too will have to extend its service.

Tax Aid for Students

The Massachusetts Legislature is toying with an idea which, we suspect, will demand much wider attention in years to come. The idea is an exemption for college students in income tax

A group of Massachusetts legislators wants to provide parents with a $400 tax exemption for each student 18 years of age or older attending a higher educational institution. Since this would cause the state an estimated $1,600,000 loss of revenue (there are 135,000 Massachusetts students in colleges or similar institutions), the tax exemption bill may not pass in this session.

Nevertheless the idea of a special exemption for higher education students is commendable, for two reasons. It would help relieve parents of a special burden for educating youth, and it would encourage them to send more of their sons and daughters to colleges and technical

The nation has heard a great deal in recent years about the need to train more young men and women in the arts and sciences. This is necessary for strengthening defense, for the progress of industry, for the growth of the nation. And since indirect subsidization is recognized in the tax laws for several purposes, why not use tax exemptions to help send youngsters to college too?

Trimming 'Americans' to Size

Mexicans, and most other peoples of the Amerleas, think it somewhat presumptuous of us in the United States to call ourselves Americans William A. Cornell, a sociologist of Milton College in Wisconsin, notes that Mexicans may call us gringos or norteamericanos or yanquis, but the adjective "American" might as well refer to Canadians or Chileans or anyone else in this New World visited by Amerigo Vespucci for whom two continents were named.

We agree with Prof. Cornell's article in the Madison Capital Times, or at least we agree up to a point. As he says, when Thomas Jefferson used the phrase "United States of America" in the Declaration of Independence, "He was both accurate and circumspect." A Colombian may well claim to be just as good an American as, say, Senator Eastland of Mississippi.

The trouble with troubling ourselves over being Americans is that nobody knows just what we ought to be. Some people, the writer says, think citizens of the U.S.A. might call them selves Usonians, and Prof. Cornell suggests he would feel reasonably patriotic in calling himself a Ustatesian.

Patriotism aside, ft is not very easy to call neself a Ustatesian, and we doubt very much if anybody else would call us that. For the fact is that we particular "Americans" are Americans and nothing else in the eyes of the British French, Chinese and nearly everybody else but the other "Americans" in our neighborho

We are not entirely to blame for calling our selves Americans, any more than Mexicans can be blamed for calling themselves Mexicans, when most of them are not. At least, the original Mexicans were the one Nahua tribe known as the Aztecs, and not every Mexican of today is descended from the Aztecs. The name was corrupted in early colonial times when "Mexican" was applied to all Indians, and the creole was

Thus we suspect it is a little late in history for recting national nomenclature. Doubtless we . will continue to call ourselves - and be called-Americans, But then anyone north and south who wishes to use the term can do so, There's room for everybody.

But there is a catch to this argument. The other subsidized industries are producing something that we need, or at least can use. The farmers are being subsidized to produce millions of tons of things—cotton, wheat, rice, butter, and so on—which we don't need, can't possibly use, and can't even give away.

In fact, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra

Taft Benson has made a few gingerly efforts to bring a little sense back into our farm economy. Whereupon Demo-

Before next November's elections, Democrats and Republicans alike will be groveling all over the barnyard as they court the country vote—but the Democratic anties will be the most embarrassing. Nearly all Democratic politicians are now convinced that the farmers offer the largest single block of detachable votes—and many seem willing to use almost any tool of demagoguery which promises to pry it loose from the Republican grasp.

Our our only excuse is that for twenty years—from 1920 until 1940—the farmers were in pretty bad shape. During these decades, city people got in the habit of giving them handouts, and haven't yet discovered that times have changed. The farmer not only got in the habit of accepting his dole; he came to believe that it belonged to him permanently, as a matter of right.

Farm Population Is Down

It is true that the slice of the national income which goes to agriculture has shrunk in the last four years—that is what the moaning is all about—but the farm population has dwindled too. As a result, the individual farmer isn't much worse off—only about 5 per cent of the work force could produce all the farm products which the United States and a part of the reported when the world would take at profitable we are now supporting in agriculture. Uncrowned Ruler of Europe

BISMARCK: THE MAN AND THE STATEMAN, by A. J. P. Taylor. (A. A. Knopf, 286 pgi., $4.75.)

This is the story of the servant who was master, the life of a thinker who was a doer, a record of a creator and conserver.

Decade after decade the most powerful uncrowned ruler of ninestenth-century Europe was Otto von Bismarck. Between 1862 and 1888 he, more than any other individual, fashioned the German empire which, in other hands, dis-integrated in the 1918 cauldron of military defeat. Breath-takingly liberal at times and on other occasions stolidly conservative, he was ever a masterful diplomat playing, almost piddling, at politics.

Few could hope to match Bismarck's rew could nope to mater bismarters capacity for parlaying personal weak-nesses into public indispensability. A poor speaker, with a reedy-thin high voice, he neither captivated nor captured audiences with his halting flow of sylto keep step, his ideas marched on triumphantly. Impatient and given to gross exaggeration, he was dogged and dogmatic. In and dogmatic. In the personal ar-mory of this man who broadened the base of German military might the most powerful Otto Von Bismarck weapons were tears hysterics, crockery-breaking binges, and hysterics, crockery-breaking binges, and other equally juvenile histrionics. In many respects undisciplined personally, Bismarck disciplined millions to respond to the call of national greatness. Whether or not Bismarck is, as claimed, "the one whom it would be most rewarding to recall from the dead for an hour's conversation," it stands that the modernizer of Germany was as significant as he was strange and strong. Defty entwined, the inner man and the outer evidence of his role in German life are readably balanced in this eminently interesting and worthis this eminently interesting and worth

A longtime student of nineteenthe-century continental Europe, A. J. P.
Taylor of Oxford University has produced in this brief work a challenging culmination to his earlier German studies. Having labored long on tedious details, he arrives at a moment of sumstudies. Having labored long on tenious details, he arrives at a moment of summing up, of brilliantly broad interpretation to which he brings perception and perspective. The subject is grandiose; the treatment is in the grand manner. C. HARVEY GARDINER.

On Both Sides of the Border WHOOP-UP COUNTRY by Paul F. Sharp. (University of Minnesota Press, $5.)

werily of Minasola fress, 35.)

The Whoop-Up country lies in the general area between Montana and the Canadian provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan. It is now a vast prairie of wheat and grass, but in the period covered by this book (1865-85) it was a busy avenue of commerce and high road of adventure. Later the railroad came, and the Whoop-Up Trail fell into disuse. Prof. Sharp, of the University of Wisconsin, tells the story of the relationship between the communities on either side of the border, communities that were united by geography but dithat were united by geography but divided by political identities. His material is original and succinctly presented, making this book an example of superior regional history.

Suspicious, That's All

From the Garden City (Kan.) Daily Telegram

This department recently commented that a number of people were being awfully stuffy about the engagement of Grace Kelly to Prince Ranier. Among those referred to was the Chicago Tribune, which said Kelly had no business tying herself up with the silent partner of a gambling hall.

What we didn't know was that the Tribune is sleeping in the same bed with the Communist Daily Worker. The Worker doesn't approve of the prince either. Not only does he reap dividends from gambling, but worse—he doesn't know how to lay brick or write plays. Since the Tribune has for some time espoused the theory that anyone who agrees with a Communist on anything is thereby suspect himself, this is a pretty pickle indeed. Or perhaps red herring is the better term.

We don't know how the Tribune can get out of it, short of telling Grace to go ahead and marry the prince. Should it stick to its boorish attitude, then that Senate committee might switch from badgering The New York Times and get down to investigating some up-to-date subversion in Chicago.

PENNARIO PLAYS BARTOK CONCERTO

Pianist Gives Forceful and Incisive Performance With Symphony Orchestra.

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN. Bela Bartok's Piano Concerto

So it is now a great composition and by time-honored standards—great in its ideas, its brilliance of deployment, its coherence, strength and vivid instrumentation.

The Rev. Dr. Hackett will give his presidential address, and the retiring president, the Rev. Dr. W. Davidson McDowell of Ladius Chanel will give the strength and vivid instrumentation.

Pennario's facility and self-assurance made for a maximum effectiveness in performance with the possible exception of the slow movement where, it seemed to me, a greater depth of tone with a sustained and floating sonority was indicated. Pannario's somewhat steely timbre was not favorable to the meditative mood implied by the context though his concentration on the connection of ideas was quite evident. The difficulties offered by fast and tricky passages were encompassed with apparent ease. Fluency and finish were distinguishing attributes of his entire performance; and he also commanded a wide range of dynamics.

The orchestral performance was also excellent in its tonal color and its general spirit of vitality.

Pennario played two encores: Scriabin's Nocturne for the Left Hand and Ravel's own plano transcription of "La Valse." The latter was brilliantly played and surprisingly effective when one was also provided the machine of the Methodist Church context them and Ravel's own plano transcription of "La Valse." Russia Clinches Winter Olympic Team Title With Ski Victory

U.S. Third In 4-Man Bobsled

CORTINA, Italy, Feb. 4 (AP) -A fearless Swiss chauffeur who was almost killed here two years ago, drove Switzerland to the four-man bobsled championship, and a hardy Russian quartet fought off a desperate Finnish challenge to win the 40kilometer cross country relay title today in the Winter Olym-ples. The ski victory clinced the unofficial team title for the pics. The ski victory clinced the unofficial team title for the Russians.

Franz Kapus, 46, piloted Switzerland's No. 1 sled to victory down the dangerous, hole-pocked Mount Tofany course, with Italy second and the United States No. 1 sled, steered by Art Tyler, Rochester, N.Y., third. The second United States sled, steered by veteran Jim Bickford, Saranac Lake, N.Y., was nineteenth.

A record-breaking third run of 1:17.09 just about clinched the triumph for Kapus and he sewed, up Switzerland's third gold medal with a fourth run of 1:18.16 for a four-heat total of 5:10.44 for the two days. Eugenjo Monti's Italian silver medal winners had 5:12.10 and Tyler's quartet, 5:12.39. Bickford's crew had 5:25.16.

Russia led all the way in heating Finland in the cross country race of 25 miles in which each man skis 614 miles. It was the fifth gold medal for the Russians who have an insurmountable point total of 111 in the unofficial team standings. Austria is second with 18½ and the United States is sixth with 49½. The grim-faced Russians were timed in 2 hours, 2:46 with Finland second, Sweden third and Norway fourth. The United States was twelfth in the field of 14 with 2:32:04. The Yank quartet was made up of Ted Farwell, Montague City, Mass., Andy Miller, MoCall, Idaho, Larry Damon, Burlington, Vt., and Marvin Crawford, Denver.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (UP)-Young Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, who licked big Bob Baker by reverting to his own freakishly primitive style of raining leather, will get another heavyweight elimination bout next month with big Johnny 4300 Madison Square Garden fans.

It was an extremely important victory for the Hurricane, who was ranked third among heavyweight contenders when he went into the ring against second-ranked Baker, nearly 20 pounds heavier. Jackson snapped Bob's winning streak at 13 straight and tagged him with his first defeat since March 9, 1954, when he was stopped by Archie Moore.

Lake support for Tommy sent him into the ring at "even money" with Baker, who had been favored as high as 2-1 because of his streak and his weight advantage of 214½ pounds to Tommy's 194½.

Swinging his long arms like a berserk cave man, Jackson forced the fighting in every round and hit Baker with every brand of blow—from the leaping left in to the double upper-

It was a fight in which Jackson landed the most punches but short-armed Baker got home the harder ones. Jackson, 22, staggered his 29-year-old opponent in the fifth and sixth rounds; but Baker buckled Tommy's knees in the third, fourth and tenth. Tommy's nose bled after the second round, and he had a large mouse under his right eye at the finish.

Referee Harry Kessler, who never had to separate them once, favored Jackson on a rounds basis, 5-4-1, as did Judge Jack Gordon. But Judge Joe Agnello called it even on rounds, 5-5. The United Press had Jackson ahead on rounds, 6-4.

Webster and Ritenour Play Tourney Final

By John J. Archibald Webster Groves, which has come to regard the between semesters Suburban League tournament as its "get ready" date, will bid for a fourth consecutive championship in that meet when it plays Ritenour in the final at 9 o'clock tonight. Ferguson and Kirkwood last night's losers in the semifinals, will be paired in a third-place contest at 7:30. The tournament is at the Webster Groves gym Both Webster and Ritenous had unchampionlike starts in their semifinal games, scoring six points and four points respectively in their opening quarters. Each came back with 20-plus second quarters, however, and went on to win by very comfortable margins. Webster defeated Kirkwood, 56 to 42 and Ritenour donwed Ferguson, 54 to 47.

Jerry Wolff, the football halfback, baseball pitcher-first baseman, and basketball forward since sophomore days, had unchampionlike starts in ward since sophomore days, again paced Webster's offense again paced with 25 points.

Wolff's return to scoring form has coincided fairly well with Webster's recent surge. form has coincided fairly well with Webster's recent surge. The Statesmen were eliminated from the Normandy tournament in the opening round and lost to Kirkwood in the consolation final. Webster then was defeated in its first two league games. At that point Coach Tyke Yates made some changes. He began playing his three big men—6-4 Carl Froebel, 6-3 Harry Lansing and 6-2 John Cooper—at the same time and also started the team fastbreaking a little more. The only game Webster has lost since then was a thriller to University City, which has not lost a league match.

sity City, which has not lost a league match.

Evidence of Webster's improvement is last night's score against Kirkwood, as compared with two previous meetings with the Pioneers. Webster won the first time, 51-50, then lost, 38-36. In the Suburban semifinal a flurry of five field goals in the third quarter by Wolff enabled Webster to take a 15-point lead into the final period. Kirkwood was hampered by the absence of Rich Reuter, who cut his too Thursday night. Al Coggan was Kirkwood's top scorer with 14 points.

TRAGEDY RECALLED

Locomotive engineer Frank Parrish stares into space after viewing newsreel films of the wreck of a Sante Fe train in which 30 persons were killed at Los Angeles Jan. 22. Films were shown yesterday as inquest opened into accident which came when Parrish's train tipped while rounding curve at about 70 miles an hour.

RARE DAY ON THE RIVIERA

Palms frosted with thick coating of snow offer rare spectacle at Nice, on the French Riviera. Traditionally a balmy haven from the rigors of winter, the Mediterranean resort was not spared as the worst cold wave of the century lapped over western Europe in recent days. While tourists shivered, fruit and flower growers counted their losses in millions. Elsewhere, death and hardship came to many, with the toll still mounting today as the intense cold continued over the Continent.

FOR A GLIMPSE OF THE QUEEN

Choice vantage spots are at a premium as residents of Nagos, Nigeria, scramble for look at Queen Elizabeth. Tree offered best view of parade route but only for some. Less agile spectators found themselves tightly packed on ramp or in crowd at right.

CAT IN TREE

Agent Andy Nappier of the Animal Protective Association aiming water at cat (circle) in vain effort to force it down from perch more than 60 feet above ground at the Military Personnel Records Center, Overland, yesterday. Attempts to climb the lofty tree were fruit-less and with the matter of a fire department aerial ladder caught in legal snarls the cat remained in the tree overnight. Ropes, rigging and a professional tree climber were called on today to bring the animal down, apparently little the worse for its experience.

NEW DAY FOR FAMED PAPER

News vendor in Buenos Aires offering copies of La Prensa which reappeared yesterday under the control of the Paz family. The paper, determined opponent of President Juan D. Peron, was seized by the Argentine dictator in 1951 and published as a Peronista organ until Peron was ousted last September. It was returned to its editor, Alberto Gainza Faz, Last November.

Members of the Agriculture
Committee gave general ap-proval to a billion-dollar price tag on the Administration's soil tag on the Administration's soil bank plan. Under Secretary of Agricul-ture True D. Morse of St. Louis told the committee yesterday plans now call for asking farm-ers to take 44,000,000 to 50,-000,000 acres out of production. The Government would pay The Government would pay them from $800,000,000 to a billion dollars.

Payment to individual farmers would vary widely under the two-part program. For diverting land from wneat, cotton, corn and rice, they would receive half this year's support price on the crops they could receive half this year's support price on the crops they could have expected from the diverted land. Under a longer range program for planting grass and trees, they would receive $10 an acre rental, plus 80 per cent of the cost of replanting—an average $9 an acre.

"I think most members of my committee were favorably im-pressed," Chairman Allen J. Ellender (Dem.), Louisiana, of the Agriculture Committee, told

"It's more generous than some expected," said Senator George Aiken of Vermont, senior Republican member. Ellender called the committee back into closed-door session today for "tentative decisions" on major features of the new legislation.

In advance, Ellender re-ported that a majority of his 15-member group favored drop-ping the present flexible farm price supports in favor of a re-turn to former higher rigid

That could cause a time-consuming battle later on the Senate floor. The Senate reversed its committee in 1954 to put the flexible supports into operation at the urging of President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Cost Estimates.

Morse, giving the first cost stimates on the soil bank program, told the committee that gram, told the committee that between $455,000,000 and $650, 000,000 would go to farmers who agree to divert between 19,000,000 and 26,000,000 this year from planting allotments for cotton, wheat, corn and

Morse estimated than another $35,000,000 other $35,000,000 would be needed to pay farmers who took an additional 25,000,000 acres out of any farm cropland. This is the longer term con-servation reserve for planting trees and grass.

These payments would be in addition to the $250,000,000 Congress already has authorized for the Agricultural Conservation Program now operated under old farm laws.

JUDY GARLAND SUES TO DIVORCE THIRD HUSBAND

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Feb. (AP) — Actress-singer Judy arland's third marriage has one awry. She filed suit for divorce vesterday from actors agent Sid Luft. They were mar-ried June 8, 1952. She charged cruelty, asked the court to make an equitable division of proves More Money community property and requested custody of the two children, Lorma, 3 years old, and married to musician David Rose and film director Vincente Min-nelli. She and Minnelli had one child, Liza. Luft helped Miss Garland make a comeback after her troubles at M.G.M. studio, where troubles at M.G.M. studio, where she had several temperamental clashes, one of them ending in her attempt at slashing her throat with a broken glass.

With Luft supplying the inspiration, she went in 1951 to London, where she was a hit. She later filled a record-breaking engagement in New York's Palace theater.

These successes led her back into pictures. She recently signed a television contract and everyone expected Luft to produce her shows.

ENGINEERS, RIVER SHIPPERS DISCUSS MUTUAL PROBLEMS

Representatives of the Army Corps of Engineers and Mis-sissippi river shipping operators met yesterday for a discussion of mutual problems aimed at improving river navigation con-ditions.

Col. George E. White Jr., district engineer, said he plans to hold similar meetings at regular intervals. Among probregular intervals. Among prob-lems discussed were failure of some shippers to give full com-pliance with navigation notices issued by the corps of engineers on tow restrictions in certain areas and the practice of some pilots of cutting corners and riding down buoys. White asked that the pilots be directed to make full sweeps around bends in the channel. The shippers suggested that

The shippers suggested that gate walls of the Alton locks be lighted to facilitate judgment of distances, when the engineers pointed out that the walls are being damaged by barges knocking against them while entering the locks.

PAYDAY DISAPPOINTING: EMPLOYE, $3500 MISSING

CRADLE ROBBER.

I don't think the six months difference would be noticed if he were not two years behind you in school. If you have to keep defending him constantly and if he isn't readily accepted into your particular group of friends, it might be embarrassing to you both. However, if he is the kind of boy who you want to date and if he is as mature in his behavior as those in your own age group, it would be too bad to hurt him because some of the girls don't like the idea of seniors dating sophomores. After all, you went with him before. Was there a problem then?

While it is a long time since sauerkraut was homemade, it was often purchased from the barrel that the grocer was sure to have on hand. Today we usually buy it in canned form and, of course, it is thoroughly cooked. We dress it in various ways when it is served hot or we may serve it as a salad with either French dressing or mayonnaise and plenty of greens. I AM A GIRL OF 14. I have been going dancing for some time and last week I met a boy there. He was very nice. He asked me to come this week and I said I would My mother found out and forbids me to go there any more. I-promised the boy and I want to go but I don't want to disobey my mother. I have no way of reaching him MOTHER TROUBLE.

Your mother must have known you would meet boys there if she agreed that you should go. Is there some ob-fection to this particular boy? If he has a bad reputation even though he seemed nice to you that evening-you wouldn't want to date him anyway. But if you knew him so casually, I doubt if he would be very much surprised if you didn't show up again. Don't sneak behind your mother's back if she has asked you not to see him.

Word Game.

ToDAY'S word game is designed to test your ability to recognize words similar in meaning to one another. Below you will find two groups of 10 words. The first group is lettered A, B, C, etc. The second is numbered 1, 2, 3, etc.

For each word in the first group you will find a word or phrase of almost the same meaning (a synonym) in the second group. Thus the phrase numbered 1 may mean practically the same as the word detered F. Write this down as F1. When you have written down all the answers, check against the correct pairings at the bottom. IN ANSWER TO C.T.: For information on pen pals from other countries, write to Letters Abroad, 695 Park avenue, New York 21, or to the International Friendship League, 40 Mount Vernon, Boston, Mass.

At the Movies

By Edward Kosmal

HIS should come as no great surprise to anyone who lived and listened through the King of Swing era, but what makes "THE BENNY GOODMAN STORY" at the ST. LOUIS easy to take is the music. And, perhaps, this is as it should be, for Goodman's story has already been recorded on wax. In addition, Universal-International went all out to assemble some of the brightest names of the jazz world for this picture, including Harry James, Gene Krupa, Lionel Hamp ton, Ziggy Elman, Teddy Wilson and others

Unfortunately, sandwiched in between the more than two dozen tunes, the usual stereotyped This Is Somebody's Life Story pattern is pursued with the same fervor that, invariably, marks any and all Hollywood biographies. The story follows Goodman's rags-to-riches rise from his first music lessons at Chicago's Hull House to his success in Carnegie Hall. And the music ranges from "Avalon" to 'Stompin' at the Savoy," with even a little Mozart thrown in for good measure.

For the Technicolor film, television's Steve Allen (who, to coin a cliche, comes close to a spittin' image of B.G.), forsakes his piano for the licorice stick. He and Donna Reed, who portrays Goodman's girl and wife-to-be, combine to give the viewer a welcome helping hand through the standard-type dialogue until the next scene and another jazz number come along The Fling That Failed

Walt Disney took a fling in Mexico for "THE LITTLEST OUTLAW" at the ORPHEUM, and he didn't fare much better than the major league pitchers who jumped south the border only to find that their old pitch didn't have the same sharp stuff any more

The film's Mexican cast does a generand love for a horse. The youngster (Andres Velasquez) "steals" the animal to keep it from being destroyed. In his flight, which manages to hold a degree of interest, the boy runs across authentically-scened bull fights, an assortment of weather conditions, comical crooks and a man of the cloth (Joseph Calleia), who plays no minor role in saving the boy's horse . The padre's short question-andanswer prayer routine at the altar brings to mind a diluted version of the wonderful Don Camillo procedure. But only There are some good Technicolor shots, but some of the scenes are almost enough to make one wonder if the process has been perfected yet. Disney's efforts hav a habit of garnering Oscars by the armful, but it's a safe bet to consider "Littlest Outlaw" scratched as an entry. On the same program is an animated color short, "JOHNNY APPLESEED," featuring the voice of Dennis Day, which serves admirably to emphasize the chasm between good Disney and the not-so-good Disney.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

READER writes: "Will you kindly give me your opinion on the following incident which took place at our P.-T.A. meeting the other evening. One of the political organizations here in-town has graciously consented to let us hold our meetings in their club rooms, but we must be out by 10:45. This particular meeting was scheduled for 9 o'clock but did not get under way until 9:30. I am program chairman and had invited a guest speaker for the evening. During the business course of the evening one of the members got up and talked for almost half an hour on a certain proposal. Knowing how limited our time was and seeing our guest speaker growing impatient, I got up and said to this member that I was sorry to interrupt him but our guest speaker was waiting and would he please be brief. He immediately stormed off the platform without saying another word. I have been severely criticized by several members for my behavior and I would like to know if I was justified in doing what I did."

If the speaker was a prominent person and people had come to hear him, you were perfectly right to interrupt the member but you should have done it very quietly by exlaining that the time was running short and reminding him that you all had to be out of the rooms by 10:45.

-My Day

A Pleasant Evening

By Eleanor Roosevelt

WEDNESDAY night I went to see the Lunts in "The Great Sebastians." I don't think the play, in itself, would hold one's interest, but with the Lunts in it I enjoyed one of the most entertaining and pleasant evenings of the whole winter.

I think my pleasure was much enhanced, however, by having Katharine Cornell with us. In Katharine Cornell with us. In the first place, it is good to know she is growing stronger after her operation, and, of course, the theater and everyone in it are the most important parts of her life. But just as a person—if you didn't know how great she is as an actress—you would still find her one of the warmest and most delightful people to be with.

I HAVE JUST FINISHED a book, called "Peace at Bowling Green," by Alfred Leland Crabb, and I want to recom-mend it warmly to those who enjoy being reminded of the way our country was settled. This is a day-by-day story of the gradual development of this particular area of Kentucky and carries us through different generations of a family until the end of the Civil War and the rebuilding begins. It is an in-timate picture of daily life with delightful character sketches.

I WAS SENT a number of booklets the other day that deal with subjects of interest to the American home, and I think American home, and I think they are all written in a way that will make them useful to young readers as well as to

Car Stifler and a group of his friends. He is well known through his work with the American Bible Society and has been broadcasting for over 18 years. Mr. Stifler is looking forward to distributing booklets on the Bible and on other subof religious and educational interest in the same form as those he and his friends are now distributing.

The booklets I received dea! with subjects such as "First Cook Book for Boys and Girls, "Read Faster and Get More Out of it," and "Make Your Savings Work for You."

THE luxury of a cedar-lined closet can be a prideful project of do-it-yourself ef-

Random cedar boards come packaged in quantites that are adequate for an average closet, and the application to walls is a matter of cutting the boards to fit and nailing them on.

There's nothing mysterious about the effectiveness of cedar after all. It's the delightful, spicy fragrance, that drives the moths away, and boards that are easy to work with are just as protective as the professionally installed closet and chest, lin-

Actually, the hand occurred at ruber bridge. West opened the deuce of hearts, dummy as ruper bridge. West opened the deuce of hearts, dummy ducked, and the queen won. Then, without giving a great deal of thought to the situation, East laid down the heart acc—and right then and there he conceded the contract. Declarer ruffed, cashed the king and queen of spades, and then led a diamond toward dummy. The nine lost to East's queen, but now it did not matter what East returned. South, after knocking out the diamond ace, could claim the balance, since there were three established diamonds in dummy on which to discard losing clubs.

The plain fact is that East made a bad mistake at Trick 2. His partner's lead was almost certainly from four heavier.

made a bad mistake at Trick 2. His partner's lead was almost certainly from four hearts, hence declarer was marked with a singleton. East could reasonably count on two diamond tricks, and so, in addition to the only heart trick available, he would need a club trick before dummy's diamonds were established for discards. The only real hope of defeating the contract, then, was to find West with the jack of clubs.

Obviously, had East acted on this analysis and returned a club at the second trick, then, on winning the diamond queen, led another club, he would have established the setting trick for himself before declarer could we the disconding the diamond queen, led

Need for Proper Care of the Teeth

By J. Earl Smith, M.D.

CHILDREN'S Dental Health Week, sponsored by the American Dental Association American Dental Association and its local societies, will be observed Feb. 5-11. This event is designed to focus public interest on the need for better dental health for our children. Dental caries (tooth decay) is by far the greatest dental health problem among children —more than 90% of our children have cavities and it has more than 90% of our children have cavities and it has been estimated that about one-third of them receive the fillings they require.

ARMY TO BRAFT 6000 MEN
IN APRIL, NO NAYY DRAFT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)

— The Defense Department issued a draft call yesterday for 6000 men in April, all for the Army.

The Navy, which took 10,000 draftees in each of the last two months of 1955 and called for the same number in March, dropped out of the draft for April.

Last September the Navy an nounced that it expected to draft 56,000 men by next summer, after which it would revert to the volunteer system cert information and considered by the court. It said yesterday the action and considered the action of the search of the said per points and companies access to the said court properly held a refer to the court properly held a refer to the court properly held a refer to the c

LIMA, O., Feb. 4 (UP)—
Pickets and Westinghouse employes battled here today and the sheriff said the situation "was out of hand."
Sheriff Clay T. Cotterman said that about 700 pickets massed at the plant to prevent persons from returning to work. One car was overturned, at least 10 were damaged, and one person inside the plant was reported hurt when hit by a lead pipe thrown through a window. In Columbus, Gov. Frank J. United Press Financiai Editor NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (UP)— Stocks in the past week had their best gains and their lightest trading since Nov. 11. Industrials featured. Their average (Dow-Jones) closed week at 477.44, up 10.88 points, best rise since the week ended Nov. 4 when it was 12.50. Rall-roads closed the week in their average at 159.22, up 4.03 points and their best rise since Nov. 25. Utilities rose 1.24 points to 64.68, their best rise since the week ended July 22. The general average—average of the 65 stocks in the three foregoing ones—closed the week at 169.55, up 3.89 points and the best gain since the week ended Nov. 11. Nov. 4 when it was 12.50. Rail-or 2,122,574 shares daily aver-age for the previous week. The total was the smallest since the week ending Nov. 11 when it was 9,351,390 shares. Compared With November. Markets influenced paralleled those of early November. Back there; a three-for-one split in Jersey Standard boomed the market. This week the world's there, a three-for-one split in Jersey Standard boomed the market. This week the world's largest oil company reported net income of $717,000,000, a new record and second in size only to General Motors, General Motors, also in the news back there but for an adverse reason—a Senate study—this week reported its 1955 earnings a record for any corporation in the world—$11,89,000,000 on sales of $12.4 billion. Back there Union Pacific gave the rails a jolt when it ordered a five-for-one split. This week Santa Fe surprised the market with a five-for-one split, too.

Questions relating to birds of a certain kind have come to me from Mrs. Mary E. Crosby, who lives in southern Ontario. She writes:

"I wonder if you could tell us something about a bird which I often see in the high air on summer evenings. Flying above the tallest trees, it appears to be the size of a pigeon. Its neck and beak must be short, since they don't stand to amuse them. But it began to need more than a father's indugence to bring happiness to Robert: he grew sullen, uncome municative. Then one afternoon he buried his face in her apron and sobbed, "... Mama ... why do the boys ... call me ... cockeyes ...?"

Her heart was encased in pain. She held him to her, but could not answer.

Robert's private hell continued, and he continued to make Edward's life miserable, destroying Mis toys, slapping him so hard that once blood came from the baby's pose. Abraham turned to Mary and asked sadly, "How can one little boy be so mean?"

"He's taking it out on the baby because Eddie doesn't have to share his burden."

They leased their house for a year for $90. Mary was happy; $90 would cover a considerable part of the rent for the house is he envisaged for them in Washington.

They broke the long trip with a happy visit with her family at Lexington. One Saturday evening they went to the Markets House to hear Henry Clay.
